Risky

Business Seminar

It's just too risky to miss!

The old adage, "doing more with less" is truer for schools today than ever. As resources become scarce, school districts are looking for every possible way to cut costs. At the 2010 Risky Business Seminar, learn from the experts about strategies and programs your district can take to reduce workers' compensation and liability claims to maximize long-term savings through lower premiums.

SCSBIT member districts only

School districts that participate in SCSBIT's workers' compensation and/or property and casualty coverage are eligible to attend. Risky Business is tailored for:

- school and district administrators
- property and casualty claims contacts
- workers' compensation claims contacts
- risk control contacts
- human resource personnel
- superintendents
- school board members

School board members who attend can gain a greater understanding of how board policies relate to risk management issues and earn 17 points and 7 hours of credit in the Boardmanship Institute.

SCSBIT is a service of the South Carolina
School Boards Association
