SCSBA legislative advocacy meeting ... on TV

Your South Carolina School Boards Association

is again bringing its annual fall legislative advocacy meeting to school districts ... free of charge! So mark your calendar and plan to participate in SCSBA's live teleconference on SCETV digital channel (closed circuit) 4 from 6 to 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, September 30.

The teleconference format allows school boards to invite staff, parents, and other public school advocates to participate in the meeting at a location in their school district. During the teleconference, participants will:

- preview top educational issues, including funding reform, that are likely to top the General Assembly's agenda in 2011;

- learn how the November 2010 general elections could impact the legislative landscape; and,
- discover how united and diverse voices can make a difference in advocating for public schools.

Questions or comments can be called in during the program at 1.800.236.3994 or emailed to ask@scsba.org.

School board members participating in the meeting will receive 5 points and two hours credit in the SCSBA Boardmanship Institute.
